About me

Born in Sevilla, Spain. I moved to the UK in May 2012 after doing my Superior Degree in Sound since the opportunities in the sound industry were much notable in this country. This fact shows one of the main aspects of my personality. I always try to make the most in what I am doing, both in my field and working as anything else, for instance, as a waiter. I am very quick at learning. I am able to work in a team unsupervised. I am good at working with deadlines and meeting targets. I have worked in the catering industry and I am very good at communicating with various people. My aims and ambitions are to do the best at what task is at hand. I am a hard worker and dedicated at doing a good job.
